HarperCollins: February 2025

Writers House retained translation and UK rights

Wahab Algarmi's debut middle-grade graphic novel explores the month of Ramadan through the eyes of Hassan, a Muslim-American boy navigating a month of middle school and an upcoming soccer championship, while learning more of his own family's history and fasting every day for the holy month.

It's almost sunset, and Hassan has been dreaming about eating since the sun came up. The month of Ramadan has begun, and not eating until sundown intensifies his already busy days full of homework, soccer, and gaming. And since his teachers and friends at school barely understand Ramadan and its traditions, it's easier to just. . . not mention it.

As the month stretches on, Hassan's family and community grow closer together. They wake up before sunrise every morning, feast when the sun goes down, and attend mosque in the evenings. Can Hassan balance it all during the hectic holy month—faith, tradition, school, and fun too?

“Funny, endearing, and an intimate look at a Muslim family.”
—Gene Luen Yang, bestselling author of American Born Chinese

“Your heart will melt and your mouth will water as you follow Hassan, who balances faith, grades, soccer, and an empty stomach during Ramadan.”

REBELLION 1776

Laurie Halse Anderson

Agent: Amy Berkower

Simon & Schuster: April 2025

Writers House retained translation and UK rights

From New York Times bestselling author Laurie Halse Anderson comes an eerily timely middle-grade adventure about a girl struggling to survive amid a smallpox epidemic, the public's fear of inoculation, against the backdrop of a seething war.

In the spring of 1776, thirteen-year-old Elspeth Culpepper wakes to the sound of cannons. It's the Siege of Boston, the Patriots' massive drive to push the Loyalists out that turns the city into a chaotic war zone. Elspeth's father—her only living relative—has gone missing, leaving her alone and adrift in a broken town while desperately seeking employment to avoid the orphanage.

Just when things couldn't feel worse, the smallpox epidemic sweeps across Boston. Now, Bostonians must fight for their lives against an invisible enemy in addition to the visible one. While a treatment is being frantically fine-tuned, thousands of people rush in from the countryside begging for inoculation. At the same time, others refuse protection, for the treatment is crude at best and at times more dangerous than the disease itself.

Elspeth, who had smallpox as a small child and is now immune, finds work taking care a large, wealthy family with discord of their own, as they await a turn at inoculation, but as the epidemic and the revolution rage on, will she find her father?

Laurie Halse Anderson is an award-winning and bestselling author whose writing spans young readers, teens, and adults. Unmask a murderer or take the fall.

After Cooper King is pressured by big brother figure Jason to go on a looting spree during a local march, the unthinkable happens: gunshots ring in the air and someone ends up dead. Cooper fears the cops will come knocking at his door, and the pressure only mounts when a suspect is taken into custody: Jason.

Monique, Jason's sister and Cooper's longtime crush, is willing to go any length to clear her brother's name. Even if she needs to go into the belly of the beast and confront the killer herself. When she teams up with Cooper, they fall down the investigation rabbit hole and start to fall for each other. But little does Monique know that within this web of deception, Cooper is shrouding the truth that he was there when the shots went off. Writers House retained translation and UK rights

From #1 New York Times bestselling Sisterhood of the Traveling Pants author Ann Brashares and her brother Ben comes a pulse-pounding middle grade alternate history thriller trilogy that asks the question: what it would be like in present-day America if Germany had won World War II?

Henry, Frances, and Lukas are neighbors, and they used to be best friends. But in middle school Frances got emo, Lukas went to private school, and Henry just felt left behind. When they come together again for the funeral of a pet gerbil, the three ex-friends make a mindblowing discovery: a radio, buried in Henry's backyard, that allows them to talk to another group of kids in the same town. . . in the same backyard. . . eighty years in the past.

The kids in 1944 want to know about the future: Are there laser guns? Flying cars? Jetpacks, at least? Most of all, they want to know about the outcome of the world war their dad and brothers are fighting in. Though Henry is cautious—he's seen movies about what happens when you disrupt the fabric of time—soon the present-day kids are sending their new friends on a mission to rescue a doomed candy store. What harm could that do? But one change leads to another, and when the six friends alter history in the biggest way possible, it's up to them to change it back.

From award-winning author Nidhi Chanani comes a sweet and magical new middle-grade graphic novel about a boba café, an earthquake-causing monster, and an unforgettable summer!

In the fog laden hills of San Francisco sits a sleepy independent boba café. Run by Jing Li and guarded by her kitty Bao, it comfortably fades into the background. But inside the boba café, there's a secret. Jing is the keeper of the monster of San Francisco. Each day she prepares one giant boba for nine hours to feed it. When Jing's granddaughter, Aria, comes to stay with her for the summer she makes it her mission to turn the café around. Aria is quickly aided by Bao, who gives birth to eight perfect kittens. Aria spreads the news of the boba cat café on social media and overnight it is overrun with excited customers. Each day Nainai Li (Grandma Li) finds reasons to close the cafe but the demand only increases.

When she opens, the hill monster is left hungry and small earthquakes begin to plague the city. When Aria secretly follows her Nainai to the hill monster cave she isn't sure what awaits. Will Aria be able to reason with the monster or become its new favorite meal? Or will she disturb its underground existence and cause the Big One?

Meet Sam: an insolent pug—and incidental hero—who will stop at nothing to protect his family!

When scientists Elaine and Gary Peterson adopt Sam to keep their son, Justin, company in the midst of a top-secret research project, they never imagine the precocious pup will cause more harm than good. But from chewing up Elaine's hairdryer (the "brain melting heat cannon"), to his inability to be house-trained (who could resist the "pooping rug"?), the Petersons aren't sure how much more they can take. And that's before Sam starts harassing Justin's crush (and potential new friend), Phoebe, whom Sam is sure is an evil wizard out to harm Justin. But when a pair of crooks encroaches on the Peterson household in an attempt to steal their confidential findings, Sam's actions—never mind his reasoning for them—just may save the day.

The thrilling companion novel to the highly acclaimed Until We Shatter!

19-year-old Seer, Raya, is so desperate to escape her parents' legacy and become a tracker, she's willing to risk her magic by provoking the future's ire. But instead of sending her a vision she can use, the fates show her the boy she's destined to fall in love with. Except he isn't a boy, he's an illegal half-shade, and their union would see them both killed. Unless she can change it.

21-year-old Ezzo has spent the past year drinking away his grief. He's not interested in the future—his, hers, or anyone's. But when the fates conspire to place him in Raya's path, Ezzo is forced to put down the bottle, because there's a new power rising in Sarotuza—a religious zealot with never-before-seen powers—and unless he and Raya can stop him, he's going to put an end to all magic for good.

Step inside the Factory in this suspenseful, page-turning exploration of power, exploitation, and the nature of time by Catherine Egan—perfect for fans of Margaret Peterson Haddix and Gordon Korman!

How far will you go to protect your future?

Thirteen-year-old Asher Doyle is no stranger to misfortune. Bullied at school and struggling with problems at home, he dreams of the day he can leave it all behind him. That's when he receives an unexpected opportunity: an invitation to join the Factory—a top-secret research facility that's supposedly developing renewable energy—and Asher will be paid handsomely for his participation. It seems like the answer to all his problems.

But not everything is as it seems at the Factory. The other kids in the program are tired and sullen, almost as if they've had the life sucked out of them, and the staff members are clearly hiding something. What's more, Asher discovers he wasn't chosen at random; someone in the program desperately wants him to participate. Asher can't help but feel that whatever the Factory is doing, it's not what he or any of the other kids signed up for.

To Asher's horror, it turns out that the Factory isn't developing renewable energy at all. So what is the Factory up to, and more important, why? As conditions in the Factory worsen, Asher must team up with the other kids to uncover the sinister truth behind the experiment—and his personal connection to it—before someone gets seriously hurt.

A #1 New York Times and Indie Bestseller

Johannes, a free dog, lives in an urban park by the sea. His job is to be the Eyes—to see everything that happens within the park and report back to the park's elders, three ancient Bison. His friends—a seagull, a raccoon, a squirrel, and a pelican—work with him as the Assistant Eyes, observing the humans and other animals who share the park and making sure the Equilibrium is in balance. But changes are afoot. More humans, including Trouble Travelers, arrive in the park. A new building, containing mysterious and hypnotic rectangles, goes up. And then there are the goats—an actual boatload of goats—who appear, along with a shocking revelation that changes Johannes's view of the world.

A story about friendship, beauty, liberation, and running very, very fast, The Eyes & the Impossible will make readers of all ages see the world around them in a wholly new way.

An unputdownable new thriller from the author of The Black Queen and Wander in the Dark!

When Egan High's star running back is murdered in the parking lot of a popular teen hangout, police initially believe his death was a robbery gone wrong. But then another football player goes missing and turns up dead soon after. Now they suspect something more sinister is going on.

Isaiah "Izzy" Stokes and his childhood best friend, Keke Davieller, know why someone is targeting four of the players on their school's football team. Nine months before his murder, Izzy accused Cole and three other players of assaulting him at a party. And after the town's police department did nothing about it, Izzy wrote down all his rage and frustrations over what the boys did to him into a "kill list" in which he detailed how he wished the four players would get murdered and then he buried it. The list was supposed to be a symbolic thing Keke hoped would help Izzy heal from the trauma.

The night Cole is murdered, Izzy receives the list back in a black envelope with his name on it, along with a cryptic message that implies someone has decided to carry out all the twisted things he wished for. And whoever it is committing the murders is setting it up to look like Izzy's behind them—unless he and Keke can unmask the person first.

Writers House retained translation and UK rights

New York Times bestselling author Kami Garcia has returned with a middle grade graphic novel about the struggles of a game-loving girl who gets diagnosed with dyslexia, and the loving support network that help her along in the journey.

Stella knows fifth grade will be the best year ever. Her closest friends, Emiko and Latasha, are in her class and they all got the teacher they wanted. Then their favorite television show, Witchlins, announces a new guidebook and an online game!

But when the classwork starts piling up, Stella struggles to stay on top. Why does it take her so long to read? And how can she keep up with friends in the Witchlins game if she can't get through the text-heavy guidebook? And when she can't deal with the text-heavy Witchlins guidebook, she can't keep up with her friends in the game. It takes loving teachers and her family to recognize that Stella has a learning difference, and after a dyslexia diagnosis she gets the support and tools she needs to succeed.

Bestselling author Kami Garcia was inspired to write this special book by her daughter's dyslexia journey; her own neurodivergent experience; and the many students she taught over the years. With subtle design and formatting choices making this story accessible to all readers, Mixed-Up shows that our differences don't need to separate us.

New York Times bestselling author Rachel Hartman makes her middle grade debut! A boy on the run from a dragon, among other dangers, seeks refuge in a haunted abbey, in this wholly original ghost story about what haunts us, and what connects us.

A few things to know about the town of St. Muckle's: It's too out-of-the-way to interest greedy lords, and too damp and muddy for marauding dragons to burn. Anyone, from a humble serf to a runaway nun, may earn their freedom by living for a year and a day within the town walls. Seven years ago, Charl and his mother fled to St. Muckle's and made it their safe-haven, building a new life in this so called Peasant's Paradise. But when Charl sees something impossible—a ghost—soon the embers of his past are threatening to engulf his world in flame. A tragic accident is quickly followed by murder, a deadly plague, and a mercenary dragon.

Charl manages to escape to an abandoned abbey outside of town, but finds no safety within those ruined walls. A treacherous nun, a chorus of murdered girls, and the fearsome Battle Bishop await, ready to ensnare him in a complex web of history, magic and fate. For some things should never be forgotten, however much they haunt us, and Charl will need all his wisdom and resiliency if he is to fight for the world he knows. . . and the people he calls home.

When their mom leaves, Reed must care for his sister who has a life-threatening condition—even if that means breaking the law. From acclaimed author Chaz Hayden comes a tender and sparkling YA novel about family, trust, and the lengths we will go to for the ones we love.

Have you ever done something wrong but for all the right reasons?

Reed Beckett's little sister, Beatrice, has never been awakened by the smell of breakfast or a school-day alarm clock. Instead, she wakes to hospital beeps and poking doctors. Seventeen-year-old Reed has been there for Bea all along, especially since their dad died. But when their burned-out mom goes on an extended vacation with her new boyfriend, the siblings are left with only an empty pantry and each other. With no job prospects on the horizon, Reed begins making and selling fake IDs so he and Bea can survive.

But the problems keep piling up, from an angry landlord demanding rent to looming medical bills. As Reed expands his business, taking increasingly bigger risks, the potential consequences for Reed's future, Bea's health, and Reed's budding friendship with his classmate Helena become graver. But what choice does he have? The joy and complexity of both caregiving and sibling relationships are at the heart of this authentic and moving novel.

LOUDMOUTH: EMMA GOLDMAN VS. AMERICA

Deborah Heiligman

Agent: Susan Ginsburg

Macmillan (FSG): October 2025

Writers House retained translation and UK rights

A groundbreaking, propulsive YA biography about passionate anarchist and political activist Emma Goldman.

Born in Lithuania 1869, Emma Goldman made trouble her whole life. After arriving in America as a young woman, she both loved its democratic ideals and was appalled by its hypocrisy. The promise of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, in reality, was only upheld for a select few. Something had to be done. Someone had to speak up.

Soon Emma was delivering rousing speeches on topics like workers' rights, feminism, and the atrocities of capitalism. She called herself an anarchist, a freethinker. Her critics called her a troublemaker, a "loudmouth." But sometimes you need to be loud, if you want to be heard.

This is the story not only of Emma's love affair with America, but of her romances with the men she met while working toward her societal goals. Emma believed marriage was disempowering and adhered to the principles of free love. Loudmouth chronicles the extraordinary true story of a woman who was both a fearsome fighter for change, as well as a complicated human being in her own right.

CAPITANA

Cassandra James

Agent: Andrea Morrison

HarperCollins: February 2025; 2026

Writers House retained translation and UK rights

Sold in a flurry of international auctions and pre-empts, debut author Cassandra James's spellbinding new YA fantasy series is Pirates of the Caribbean meets Latinx Magic! Brimming with adventure, romance, danger and just the right amount of mystery, Capitana is perfect for fans of the high seas in Adrienne Young's Fable, the romance of Isabel Ibañez's Together We Burn, and the enchanting Caraval books by Stephanie Garber.

Ximena Reale is certain of one thing: the only good pirate is a dead one.

Ximena Reale has spent most of her life training at La Academia to join the Cazadores, seafaring hunters who track down pirates. But her future is uncertain, thanks to her parents' questionable reputation. They were traitorous pirates, and though they were executed when Ximena and her sister were young, they permanently damaged the Reale name in the eyes of the Luzan Empire.

Ability alone won't make Ximena a Cazadoro—or earn her the coveted Cazadoro cloak. So, when the legendary pirate Gasparilla returns and captures the Empire's queen, Ximena offers to bring back the queen and the notorious pirate in exchange for a cloak. But there's a catch: Only one cloak is available, and Ximena's competition is Dante, an infuriating yet handsome classmate with mysterious motives.

With their futures on the line, Ximena and Dante set out on a dangerous quest across the high seas. But no matter how far Ximena sails, her family's legacy haunts her, and her exposure to a world outside of la academia leads her to question the very laws she's always fought to uphold. Is it possible she's been on the wrong side all along?

Cassandra James recently graduated from Princeton University, where she studied English with a focus on Creative Writing. She is originally from Florida, where she lives with her family of Colombian immigrants and dreams of setting sail. She was inspired to write Capitana by the Floridian legend of the pirate captain Gasparilla, and drew from various aspects of pirate history—including the real-life Republic of Pirates which was founded by Blackbeard and others—to create the fictional empire of Luza. She connected with her agent Andrea via #LatinxPitch and can be found on Instagram at @authorznote.

In a world in which magical runes determine a person's fate, runeless best friends find themselves on opposite sides of an epic fight for justice. For fans of Amulet and Avatar, a sweeping tale of friendship and power set in an Africa-inspired fantasy world.

In the wealthy city of Dura, a person's fate is determined by the magical runes they're born with. And Fungai and Ngoni, both born without runes, have nothing—except each other. But when a mysterious, hooded figure known as the Vagabond offers to magically grant them runes, the boys see their chance for a normal life . . . though it comes at a terrible cost. For the first time ever, Fungai and Ngoni disagree—and their choices change everything, pitting them against each other in a bitter fight for justice. Full of action and emotion, Runeless is the epic story of friends torn apart—and, against all odds, reunited—in an adventure that transforms their world.

Award-winning and bestselling author Grace Lin returns with another gorgeously illustrated adventure story about duty, love, and balance, in the vein of the modern classic Where the Mountain Meets the Moon.

Jin is a Stone Lion—one of the guardians of the Old City Gate who is charged to watch over humans and protect the Sacred Sphere. But to Jin, boring duties feel like a waste of time.

What isn't a waste of time? Perfecting his zuqiu kick, scoring a Golden Goal, and becoming the most legendary player of all the spirit world. But when Jin's perfect kick accidentally knocks the Sacred Sphere out through the gate, he has no choice but to run after it, tumbling out of the realm he calls home and into the human world as the gate closes behind him.

Stuck outside the gate, Jin must find help from unlikely allies, including a girl who can hear a mysterious voice and a worm who claims he is a dragon. Together, they must find the sphere and return it to the world beyond the gate. . . or risk losing everything.

SHAMPOO UNICORN

Sawyer Lovett

Disney: May 2025

Writers House retained translation and UK rights

Adam Silvera's History is All You Left Me meets Courtney Summers's Sadie in this literary YA novel from debut author Sawyer Lovett! Told from multiple perspectives, Shampoo Unicorn is a powerful and ultimately joyful story about three teens, one podcast, and carving out a rainbow pocket in an otherwise red state.

Shampoo Unicorn: (noun)

1. A shower hairstyle in which one styles their lathered hair into the fluffiest soapy unicorn horn possible.
2. A podcast by two mysterious hosts exploring rural queer life—the isolation, the microaggressions, the boredom, and occasionally, the sky-shattering joy.

In the small town of Canon, West Virginia, most people care about three things: God, country, and football. Brian is more into Drag Race, Dolly Parton, and his gig as one of the mystery hosts of his podcast, Shampoo Unicorn. Greg's life should be perfect as the town's super-masc football star, but his secret is he's just as gay as Brian. Leslie is a trans girl living in nearby Pennsylvania, searching for reasons to get out of bed every day. Her solace is listening to her favorite podcast. . . When a terrible accident occurs, it's Shampoo Unicorn that brings the three teens' lives together. And what begins as a search for answers becomes a story of finding connection.

Sawyer Lovett (he/them) is a trans author, and an MFA/MA grad in Rosemont College's dual degree (Creative Writing/Publishing) program, as well as a former bookseller and

In my dreams I am safe; I have a strong hand to hold; a door to lock against the dark; a trusted ear in which to whisper my fears. In my dreams I am patient and kind. . .

James Anderson had a plan. Or half of one. All that matters is that he managed to do what his older brother, the famous Aaron Warner Anderson, never did: infiltrate Ark Island, the last refuge of The Reestablishment. In the past decade no outsider has breached the stronghold of the authoritarian regime, but James is in. In a prison cell, sure, but as far as James is concerned, a win is a win.

It's been ten years since the fall of The Reestablishment. Ten years since the notorious duo—Juliette Ferrars and Aaron Warner Anderson—led a worldwide rebellion and established the New Republic of the West. But after a decade of unsettling quiet, The Reestablishment is ready to make a devastating move, and they have the perfect person for the job.

Rosabelle Wolff had a plan. She always has a plan. On Ark Island, where constant surveillance is packaged as security, even emotions must be experienced with caution. A trained assassin, her every movement is monitored by synthetic intelligence—and when she's given an order to kill, she never hesitates.

Brimming with pulse-pounding action and torturous romance, Watch Me is an explosive journey through a dystopian landscape where enemies-to-lovers has never felt more impossible. Step into a beloved and breathtaking world that demands an answer to a desperate question—Who are we when no one is watching?

Welcome to the resistance. . .

Fiora Barrowling lives in a world where sorcerers are made, not born—and they use their power to rule over humans. After sorcerers killed her parents, there's no one Fiora despises more—what type of horrible person sells their soul for a hint of power?

Working as her uncle's apprentice in his tailor shop, Fiora is stuck living under strict sorcerer rule, obeying curfews, avoiding other kids, and silencing all her doubts. . . but Fiora knows there has to be another way.

Sick and tired of the sorcerers' cruelty, Fiora impulsively defies two very dangerous ones, and in the skirmish, a stranger comes to her aid with tech that can combat magic. Fiora discovers that the fabled counter-sorcerer group, The Incorrptibles, is not just a legend. Now that she knows the resistance is real, Fiora wants to fight—she has to be an Inc.

But kids are thoroughly tested before they're chosen to enroll at Inc Academy, and Fiora missed the entrance exam. Her welcome comes with conditions: if she wants a permanent spot, Fiora must prove herself in a trial period. Penguin Random House: March 2024; October 2024

Writers House retained translation rights

A brand new nonfiction chapter book series about athletes who have stepped up beyond sports to make a difference in the world, from acclaimed author Andrew Maraniss and illustrator DeAndrea Hodge! Complete with black-and-white illustrations throughout, statistics, resources, and ways for kids to make a difference on their own—Beyond the Game is a giftable and inspirational series for every reader.

Before he became one of the most famous basketball players on the planet, before he began speaking out for justice, LeBron James was just a kid. From growing up with a single mother in Akron, Ohio, to his journey to the NBA and ten NBA championships, to his social justice work creating I PROMISE and speaking up for Black Lives Matter. While known as one of the greatest basketball players of all time, LeBron James has changed the world beyond sports.

Readers learn more about the life and work of Maya Moore—from growing up with a single mother in Jefferson City, Missouri, to her journey to becoming a star player at UCONN and the WNBA, to her social justice fighting for prison reform and speaking up for Black Lives Matter.

After 9/11, Pat Tillman felt it was his duty as an American to stand up for the country, even though he was a pro NFL player in the prime of his career. He was someone who matched his toughness on the field with a soft heart, someone who always stood up for the underdog, and someone who felt an obligation to do the right thing—not depend on other people to do it. And for all his actions, Tillman often questioned his role in the military and the war—revealing the depths of his integrity and the ethical way he lived his life.

Everyone's favorite satyrs are back at Fablehaven after helping Dragonwatch put an end to the dragon rebellion. Truth be told, with everything they've been through, Newel and Doren are maturing into more responsible citizens. The thought of growing out of adolescence has the two goatmen in crisis mode. If that isn't enough to worry about, there's a new threat at Fablehaven. A few unlucky inhabitants have been found petrified, turned to stone, including some of their fellow satyrs. Could a rampaging gorgon be on the loose?

Newel and Doren become intrigued after an informant divulges information about a legendary listening doll—a talisman with the power to reveal the antidote for any magical malady—hidden somewhere in the Florida swamplands. If the mystical doll can solve any problem, maybe she has the answer of how to turn back the clock, so they won't have to grow up.

Perhaps a trip to Florida is just what Newel and Doren need to get their mojo back in time to win the annual Satyr Games. Two new challengers, Barrett and Hoff, are talking smack about dethroning Newel and Doren as perennial champions of the games. And the new opponents have a smartphone!

The dead body should have been fake. It wasn't.

Dulce Castillo is determined to win the murder mystery game her crime and criminology magnet school stages every fall. Last year's loss to her ex-best friend's team wasn't only humiliating; it kept her from winning the $60,000 prize money she and her dad need to keep living in the town she loves. But Dulce is sure this year will be different because she and her friend Emi have a secret weapon: Zane, the new transfer student, who somehow knows everything about forensics. It doesn't hurt that he's as cute as ten puppies wearing bunny ears.

The school's golden boy, Xavier Torres, is chosen to play the victim. Unfortunately, someone wants Xavier dead for real. When he's found murdered in the school greenhouse, the primary suspect is his girlfriend, Sierra. She swears she's being railroaded by the sheriff, but the evidence against her is overwhelming: It shows that she stabbed Xavier with a poison-tipped knitting needle because he dumped her when he found out she was having a fling with his brother.

Sierra begs Dulce for help clearing her name, but Dulce refuses. After all, this is the same ex-bff who lied about why Dulce's mom died in a car wreck three years ago. But when the prize committee decides to offer up the $60,000 to whoever solves Xavier's real murder, Dulce has no choice but to throw her monocle in the ring. When she finds evidence that Sierra might be innocent and that someone she cares about might be guilty, Dulce has to determine whether justice is more important than love.

Master storyteller Ken Oppel delivers a new novel blending science fiction with social commentary, in an emotionally engaging, coming-of-age YA drama.

No warning. No explanation. No escape.

Xavier Oaks doesn’t particularly want to go to the cabin with his dad and his dad’s pregnant new wife, Nia. But family obligations are family obligations, and it’s only for a short time. So he leaves his mom, his brother, and the rest of his life behind for a week in the woods. Except . . . on the first morning he wakes up and the house isn’t where it was before. It’s like it’s been lifted and placed somewhere else. When Xavier, his dad, and Nia go explore, they find they are inside a dome, trapped. And there’s no one else around . . .

Until, three years later, another family arrives. Is there any escape? Is there a reason for them to be stuck where they are? Different people have different answers – and those different answers inevitably lead to tension, strife, and sacrifice.

In this masterpiece, award-winning author Kenneth Oppel has created a heart-stopping, can’t-wait-to-talk-about-it story, showing how our very human choices collectively lead to humanity’s eventual fate.

Everyone knows that a fairy godmother helped Cinderella get to the ball where she met the prince. No one knows that the fairy godmother's motives for helping Cinderella might not have been as charming as they seem. Until now.

For centuries, the enchanted members of the Entente used their magic to keep the Thirteen Queendoms in harmony. Until the day that Queen Magrit outlawed magic, executed the Entente, and plunged the queendoms into war.

Only one Entente survives. Alone and magicless, Farrow dreams of nothing but revenge. And the best way to reach the queen is through her son, Prince Mather, who is nearing the age when he will need a bride. But the closer Farrow gets to the prince, the more she finds herself drawn to him. To reclaim her magic and destroy the queen, Farrow will have to question what—and more importantly, who—she's willing to sacrifice.

Howl's Moving Castle* meets Neil Gaiman in this middle grade fantasy series, set in a world as mesmerizing as it is menacing.

In an unkind alternate past, somewhere between the Stone Age and a Metal Age, Tell and his sister Wren live in a small mountain village that makes its living off black glass mines and runs on brutal laws. When their father is blinded in a mining accident, the law dictates he has thirty days to regain his sight and be capable of working at the same level as before or be put to death. Faced with this dire future, Tell and Wren make the forbidden treacherous journey to the legendary city of Halfway, halfway down the mountain, to trade their father's haul of the valuable black glass for the medicine to cure him. The city, ruled by five powerful female sorcerers, at first dazzles the siblings. But beneath Halfway's glittery surface seethes ambition, violence, prejudice, blackmail, and impending chaos. Without knowing it, Tell and Wren have walked straight into a sorcerers' coup. Over the next twelve days they must scramble first to save themselves, then their new friends, as allegiances shift and prejudices crack open to show who has true power.

Everyone's favorite noodleheaded wizard is at it again in another hilarious chapter book adventure of mistaken identity, courage in the face of fire (literally), and the most unlikely friendship in all of Prince Whoop-de-doo's unlikely little kingdom.

Readers, be warned! This book is full of yawns. And not just your average yawns either—there are seafaring yawns, giant-size yawns, miniature yawns, yawns with pointy teeth, royal yawns, and even yawns with fire coming out of them. Readers who proceed with caution will find that this book also contains three precious eggs, one confused dragon, a very silly wizard, and the tiny ghost who haunts his hair. The ghost's name is Butterscotch. The wizard's name is Gumluck. And I'm Helvetica—a raven, not a dragon. Despite what it looks like.

THE GOLDEN BOY'S GUIDE TO BIPOLAR

Sonora Reyes

Agent: Alexandra Levick

HarperCollins: September 2025

Writers House retained translation and UK rights

The companion novel to the award-winning and bestselling
The Lesbian's Guide to Catholic School!

Told with quick wit, humor, and unconditional love, The Golden Boy's Guide to Bipolar is an exploration of an ongoing mental health crisis through the lens of bipolar disorder. A moving and sharply funny new novel illustrating that mental illness does not preclude love.

It's been over a year since Cesar broke up with Jamal. Almost a year since The Event that sent him to the land of the sticky socks. A lifetime since Cesar and Yami uno-reversed their homophobic dad by disowning him. All this to say, Cesar has more than a few regrets.

So what better time than the new year to make things right? Things with Jamal might still be salvageable, and he's just started with a new therapist who seems to understand where he's coming from.

But between a run-in with his old bullies, an unexpected email from his dad, and a less than ideal conversation with a priest, Cesar's newfound progress feels as fragile as it does unearned. And he finds himself spiraling into a manic episode which muddies his perception of reality.

Now Cesar is utterly convinced that he is a bad person who does not deserve any of the love he receives, but no matter what he does, no matter how badly he treats his family, they don't seem to give up. So, Cesar decides there's only one thing left to do: go nuclear and burn his whole life down, and he knows just how to do it.

THE SUNDERWORLD SERIES

THE EXTRAORDINARY DISAPPOINTMENTS OF LEOPOLD BERRY

Ransom Riggs

Agent: Jodi Reamer

Penguin Random House (Dutton): August 2024; Fall 2025; Fall 2026

Writers House retained translation rights

An Instant New York Times Bestseller! | An Amazon Editors' Pick

The much-anticipated new fantasy series from Ransom Riggs, his first since introducing the #1 global phenomenon Miss Peregrine's Peculiar Children series!

Seventeen-year-old Leopold Berry is seeing weird things around Los Angeles. A man who pops a tooth into a parking meter. A glowing trapdoor in a parking lot. A half-mechanical raccoon with its tail on fire that just won't leave him alone. Every hallucinatory moment seems plucked from a cheesy 1990s fantasy TV show called Max's Adventures in Sunderworld—and that's because they are. Not a good sign.

In the blurry weeks after his mother's death, a young Leopold discovered VHS tapes of its one and only season in a box headed for the trash—and soon became obsessed. Losing himself in Sunder was the best way to avoid two things: grieving his mother and being a chronic disappointment to his overbearing father. But when the strange visions return—at the worst possible time on the worst possible day—Leopold turns to his best friend Emmet for help. Together they discover that Sunder is much more than just an old TV show, and that Los Angeles is far stranger than they ever imagined. And soon, he'll realize that not only is Sunderworld real, but it's in grave danger.

Certain he's finally been chosen for greatness, Leopold risks everything to claim his destiny, save the world of his childhood dreams, and prove once and for all that he's not the disappointment his father believes him to be. But when everything goes terribly, horribly, excruciatingly wrong, Leopold's disappointments prove to be more extraordinary than he ever could have imagined. How do you battle darkness when no one believes in you—not even yourself?

Visionary storyteller Ransom Riggs weaves the familiar with the peculiar in a stunning tale of loss, triumph, friendship and magic, reminding readers everywhere that true heroes are made, not born—and that when you're never the chosen one, sometimes you have to choose yourself.

Welcome to Sunderworld.

★ “Riggs’s incandescent storytelling, exquisite worldbuilding, and vivid characterization kick off a propulsive series . . . [A] whirlwind opener.”
—Publishers Weekly, STARRED REVIEW

★ “Like the bittersweet Los Angeles it occupies, Leopold’s offbeat Sunderworld is a little grimy and a little broken, but the magic is real and will stick with you.”

Balancing epic and intensely personal stakes, the Infinity Cycle is a gritty, fast-paced adventure about two brothers caught up in a magical war generations in the making.

Growing up in New York, brothers Emil and Brighton always idolized the Spell Walkers—a vigilante group sworn to rid the world of specters. While the Spell Walkers and other celestials are born with powers, specters take them, violently stealing the essence of endangered magical creatures. Brighton wishes he had a power so he could join the fray. Emil just wants the fighting to stop. The cycle of violence has taken a toll, making it harder for anyone with a power to live peacefully and openly. In this climate of fear, a gang of specters has been growing bolder by the day.

Then, in a brawl after a protest, Emil manifests a power of his own—one that puts him right at the heart of the conflict and sets him up to be the heroic Spell Walker Brighton always wanted to be. Brotherhood, love, and loyalty will be put to the test, and no one will escape the fight unscathed.

A darkly compelling fantasy romance in which a young woman is cursed to end the world if she ever falls in love. Perfect for fans of Jennifer L. Armentrout, Brigid Kemmerer and Stephanie Garber.

Sixteen-year-old Drinn has been kept isolated her entire life by Aunt Melusine, and she's determined to find out why. But when Drinn confronts Melusine, things go spectacularly wrong—leaving one person dead, and Drinn on the run. Heartbroken, terrified, and alone, Drinn learns she is one of the damned: girls cursed at birth to cause everything from drought to disease to rat infestations. The damned are the dregs of society, and Drinn is the most infamous of them all—if she ever falls in love, the world ends.

Drinn may not understand much, but she recognizes injustice when she sees it. Shielding her heart against a handsome, charismatic boy (is he a test, put in her path?) Drinn tracks down another cursed girl named Story—a grumpy mechanic who kills anyone she touches—and together they rally others to their cause. By transforming their curses into assets, Drinn and Story fight back: against the Aunts who cursed them, and a world that shuns them.

Unfortunately, the powerful—and now furious—Aunts may be the least of their worries. It turns out the threat to Drinn's heart was not the handsome, charismatic boy; in fact, it was never a boy at all. By the time Drinn learns deeper truths about herself and all the ways that love can surprise you, will she have already summoned the apocalypse?

Welcome back to Gumbling—Nell Starkeeper’s extremely normal fairy-tale hometown. And things couldn’t be more happily-ever-awesome, because Nell is about to go on a Gumbling rite of passage—the Multi-Disciplinary Wilderness Engagement Adventure—when all of the seventh graders spend a whole week in the forest! Sure, it’s an Enchanted Forest that’s full of gumblecreatures, where your most secret wish could be granted at any moment, but that’s nothing unusual around here.

What’s REALLY magical is that Nell gets to be on a team with ALL her best friends, learning about nature stuff and teamwork and having their very own campout (including roasting marshmallows)! Great friends + forest fun = best summer ever. . .

Except her Thumbkin friend Gil has been a bit of a grump lately. And everyone’s secret crushes are making things super awkward. . . So when the whole gang gets shrunk down to Thumbkin size after a wish gone wrong, Nell’s problems get a whole lot bigger. Can Nell and her friends find a way to work together and celebrate each other’s strengths AND vulnerabilities. . . or will this camp-out be a GIANT disaster?

EVERY BORROWED BEAT

Erin Stewart

Penguin Random House: March 2025

Writers House retained translation and UK rights

For fans of Five Feet Apart and Dear Evan Hansen, Erin Stewart's newest YA novel offers a clear look not only at the complicated realities of life with a new heart, but also at memory, grief, guilt, and what it means to live for yourself.

Delaney Moss should have died. She was supposed to die. She never expected, after years of waiting, to receive a heart transplant. Now, seventeen-year-old Delaney doesn't know what to do with her life. Her daily routine consisted of staying indoors, eating heart-healthy foods, and posting about her transplant list experiences on @TheWaitingList.

Now, Delaney latches onto the one thing that gives her meaning: learning as much as she can about the person whose heart she inherited. After some sleuthing, Delaney concludes her heart donor was a girl her age, Mia, who died tragically one town over. Delaney tells herself that attending a post-mortem birthday celebration for Mia will help her fully know who Mia was. And she's sure that after the memorial, she will be able to move on with her life. But then she meets Clayton: a boy who makes her new heart race; a boy whose outlook resonates with her, and a boy who, it turns out, was Mia's best friend. Delaney is suddenly more drawn to Mia than ever—so much so that she lies, saying that she was internet friends with Mia. Thus begins Clayton and Delaney's mission to honor Mia's memory by living out entries from Mia's vision board, one of the few things she left behind.

Delaney doesn't want to admit it, but she's falling for Clayton. What's worse, she still hasn't confessed that she lied about knowing Mia—not to mention that she has Mia's heart. But Delaney isn't the only one hiding something. Mia's brother Tanner won't talk to Clayton, and Clayton won't tell Mia why. As Clayton's grief begins to overtake him and Chloe's heart transplant is a failure, Delaney's stress sends her (and her heart) to the hospital. Now, something needs to give. Delaney needs to face what's on her heart—the truth, the guilt, and the future—before it's too late.

Sold in a heated auction, Schneider Book award-winning author Erin Stewart's middle-grade debut is perfect for fans of Jamie Summer and Barbara Dee!

Zoey Turner used to see magic everywhere. With a dad like Zoey's, it was hard not to. Not only did they read The Magic of Ever After series together every day, they also used to create original stories together. Used to. Ever since her dad died unexpectedly last year, all Zoey sees is danger.

Fear has shrunk homeschooled Zoey's life to the span of one block, where she keeps close to the people that she needs the most. Her mom is almost never out of sight, and Jada, the owner of Ever After Books, is always around to talk about their favorite fantasy trilogy. Zoey finally ventures outside her comfort zone for the chance to meet famed author Raven M. Wells, only for the outing to lead to a panic attack.

Instead of a signed book, Zoey ends up with a novelty pencil embossed with the phrase make your own magic that she uses to cope with her disappointment by writing a story like the ones she and her dad shared. The next day, Zoey is shocked to find her fantastical tale has come true. Emboldened by the pencil, Zoey takes risks she thought were long behind her in pursuit of her happy ending. But is she really in charge of how the story ends?

UNDER THE NEON LIGHTS

Arriel Vinson

Agent: Jodi Reamer

Penguin Random House (Putnam): Summer 2025

Writers House retained translation and UK rights

Sold in a 7-publisher auction, debut author and Reese's Book Club Fellow Arriel Vinson delivers an outstanding novel-in-verse about a girl who falls in love at the roller-skating rink—the only place in the world where she feels whole.

Sixteen-year-old Jaelyn Coleman lives for Saturdays at WestSide Roll, the iconic neighborhood roller rink. On these magical nights, Jae can lose herself in the music of DJ Sunny, the smell of nachos from the concession, and the crowd of some of her favorite people—old heads, dance crews, and other regulars like herself. Here, Jae and other Black teens can fully be themselves. One Saturday, as Jae skates away her worries, she crashes into the cutest boy she's ever seen. Trey's dimples, rich brown skin, and warm smile make it impossible for her to be mad at him though.

Best of all, he can't stop finding excuses to be around her. A nice change for once, in contrast with her best friend's cold distance of late or her estranged father creeping back into her life. Just as Jae thinks her summer might change for the better, devastating news hits: Westside Roll is shutting down. The gentrification rapidly taking over her predominantly Black Indianapolis neighborhood, filling it with luxury apartments and fancy boutiques, has come for her safe-haven. And this is just one trouble Jae can't skate away from.

Debut author Arriel Vinson's lyrical and contemplative story of young Black love and coming of age ushers in an exciting new voice in YA literature.

Arriel Vinson is a Reese's Book Club LitUp Fellow who writes about being young, Black, and in search of freedom. She earned her MFA in Fiction from Sarah Lawrence College. Her writing has appeared in Shondaland, Kweli Journal, Catapult, The Rumpus, Waxwing, and others. A Tin House YA Scholar, 2020 Walter Grant recipient, and 2019 Kimbilio Fellow, her work has been nominated for Best New Poets 2020, Best of the Net 2019, and a Pushcart Prize.

A heartfelt middle-grade story about unconditional love, forgiveness, and how our heroes aren't always perfect.

Sometimes finding your voice can sound funny. Walter and his father have always been inseparable. They've traveled the country together. Walter's been to just about every one of Dad's gigs. But this year, Walter's sent to live with his grandfather, in the town where Dad grew up, and start fifth grade at the Apple Grove Performing Arts Academy all on his own. And the worst part is—Walter has no idea why. On his first day, Walter impresses the entire school with hilarious impersonations during the morning announcements. He finds himself tapped to try out for the school musical, but when his costar unearths the true reason why Walter's dad isn't around, will Walter be able to face the music?

CANDLE ISLAND

Lauren Wolk

Agent: Jodi Reamer

Penguin Random House: April 2025

Writers House retained translation and UK rights

Newbery Honor-winning author Lauren Wolk delivers a moving portrait of loss and the restorative power of art.

Lucretia and her mother have come to tiny Candle Island, Maine (Population: Summer, 986; Winter, 315) to escape—escape memories of the car accident that killed her father and escape the journalists that hound her mother, a famous and reclusive artist. The rocky coast and ocean breeze are a welcome respite for Lucretia, who dedicates her summer days to painting, exploring the island, and caring for an orphaned osprey chick. But Candle Island has secrets of its own—a hidden room in her new house, a mysterious boy with a beautiful voice—and just like the strong tides that surround the shores, they will catch Lucretia in their wake.

With an unforgettable New England setting and a complex web of relationships old and new, Candle Island is a powerful story about art, loss, and the power of being true to your own voice.
